

UNDERLYING VALUES FOR NEIGHBOURHOOD SELECTION PROCESS

June 14, 2005

- Increase livability of community.
- Learning takes place at a community level as the steps to undertake change
- Bring the community together – assist and facilitate the process.
- The community should be willing and ready to accept the process.
- Have some sense of community now.
- Community development as a fundamental to the process of neighbourhood revitalization.
- Sustainability is developed within the community.
- Agencies will work toward meeting the needs identified by the community.
- Look at the community and the process from an asset-based approach.